Louie Danz may not be a somnambulist but he thinks so. Morpheus refused to contribute to Louie's slumber a few nights ago, so either deliberately or unconsciously he started out about 3 o'clock in the morning and walked and walked in the neighborhood in which he resides until he became dizzy and the neighbors suspicious. Anyway, Louie wasn't asleep or he couldn't have told me so many funny incidents.

And then there is Bill Jerome's pioneer story about a fellow named Snow who used to live in Tustin being converted and immersed in the bay at Newport. The candidate following Snow was colored girl who came up out of the water with a halloo, and shouting that she was "whiter than snow."

And just because Harvey Gardner in relating a personal experience about the earlier days in Santa Ana referred to the "peanut" roaster which completed the street car trip from the North Main street bridge into Orange as a reflection on a now wide-awake community, Tom Douglas chastised Chamber of Commerce Secretary V. D. Johnson for not rushing to the defense of Orange.

Undercover tip that one of my two friends is scheduled for a present which will sparkle, and it isn't fluid, so you guessed wrong the very first time. When it happens I may say something either about the worthiness of the bestowal or its deception. I'll see what happens. If the approach is satisfactory I'll say something nice. This isn't a threat, but it is mighty closely related. A word to the wise is sufficient.

By the way, have you signed any nomination papers? Good friend who has just emerged from an illness which required the services of a nurse, confessed that the recovery was speeded up by the lack of publicity, and hereafter he will insist that a photograph be submitted with each application so that he can have something to say about the selection, rather than leave the decision entirely to his wife Smart guy, that bird.

Judge Frank Drumm is not the forgotten man, so far as I am concerned. When a friend referred to his inquiry as to what was the matter with me got the information that I had two carbuncles, Frank discounted the number by one. He said there wasn't enough room for two. Hereafter he can buy his own tickets to the prize-fights, and maybe he has been.

Trouble for fish in the Big Bear section. Ernest Horsemann is laying his lines for an excursion into that mountain retreat, beginning next Sunday, but owing to his early training the fishing will not start until Monday. Acting upon my advice Ernest has agreed not to send the fish word of his intentions. So he will appear unannounced, and return, in all probability, unsuccessful, although he tells me he is pretty good when it comes to throwing a line, or anything else.

Lexington, Ky., paper quotes California limas $6.42 per hundred, and I know a lot of Orange county growers who would like to sell at that price.

Voters who find it necessary to make new registrations make many inquiries which the registrars do not answer. It is not expedient to do so. But if a reporter could "stand by" and hear the conversation it would afford an interesting insight as to what the voters are thinking, and many of them are.

DEPUTIES IN PARIS FIGHT OVER SPAIN

PARIS. (AP)—An alarm signal summoning guards to clear the hall sounded today in the chamber of deputies for the first time in a decade as Communist and Rightist deputies fought over France's policy toward the Spanish civil war.

The two extreme factions mingled in a free for all over the Communists' demands that France end her policy of non-intervention and open the way to aid for the Spanish government.

Two Rightist deputies, Fernand Claudet and Francis Peugeot, were injured and were escorted from the chamber with blood dripping from their faces.

Edouard Herriot, president of the chamber, had suspended the session for the second time during the day in an effort to halt bitter shouting between the right and left sides of the amphitheater.

During the suspension a group of Communist deputies approached the right and clashed with Nationalist members. The fighters were dispersed.

Trouble arose after Communist spokesmen protested what they called "unilateral" application of the European non-intervention accord, referred to Italian and German aid to the Insurgents, and insisted on immediate discussion of their demands for ending France's neutrality.

The Communist demands appeared to have been shelved, at least temporarily. Premier Edouard Daladier invoked parliamentary rules to delay debate on the troublesome issue by having the demands referred to the foreign affairs committee.

This was called to meet tomorrow, although it has five days to make its report. It was thought possible Daladier would send parliament on its vacation before this was done.

Millions to Repair Aircraft Carriers

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt has signed a bill authorizing the modernization of the aircraft carriers Lexington and Saratoga at a cost of not more than $15,000,000.

Fate of 3 L. A. Officers With Jury

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The fate of three Los Angeles policemen charged with conspiracy to murder Private Investigator Harry Raymond was in the hands of a jury today.

After 10 weeks of testimony and argument the case against Earle Kynette, Fred Browne and Roy Allen was concluded late yesterday as Judge Thomas L. Ambrose exercised his right of comment on certain witnesses before instructing the jury.

An hour later the jurors, weary because of the slow progress of the trial, retired to their hotel, saying they wished to take up their deliberations with freshened minds this morning. They had been away from their homes since April.

Roosevelt to Be In L. A. July 16

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Mayor Frank L. Shaw of Los Angeles said today President Roosevelt will visit his city July 16.

Leaving the President's office, Mayor Shaw said he did not know whether the President would make a speech there. He said Roosevelt would travel south from San Francisco on his Western trip, and might board at Los Angeles harbor the navy cruiser on which he will cruise to the South Seas.

Heiress Defies Father to Wed

In spite of the disapproval of her wealthy father, Commodore Edgar F. Luckenbach, 18-year-old Andrea Luckenbach, became the bride of William Dobbs, produce salesman, in a ceremony at Kensington, N. Y. Commodore Luckenbach, who threatened to "cut her off without a cent" if she went through with the wedding, remained unreconciled. The couple are shown after the ceremony.

PROPERTY OWNERS UNITE TO CUT TAXES, LOWER RATES

Where is each tax dollar going?

Investigation of that matter has been quietly launched by a small group of Orange county businessmen and property owners as first step in an intensive campaign to reduce taxes and cut public spending. The Journal learned today with revelation that an Orange County Taxpayers league has been organized as a unit of the Federation of Taxpayers leagues.

Officers of the league are S. C. Hartnaff of Anaheim, president; John A. Harvey of Santa Ana, vice president; Reuel W. Klein, secretary; J. C. Metzgar, trustee; and William H. Spurgeon, jr., Arthur E. Koepsel, P. A. Dinsmore, D. D. Patterson, all of Santa Ana; J. P. Greeley of Balboa and George

E. Thompson of Laguna Beach, advisory board members. A mass meeting of taxpayers will be called soon, Trustee Metzgar said, with a member of the state federation, of which Metzgar is a trustee, scheduled to make a talk.

The Orange county unit will be affiliated with the California federation, which was founded on the "Nebraska plan," under which taxes were reduced by some 40 per cent, Metzgar said.

In Nebraska, an "audit survey" of public expenditures was given to newspapers, and the resulting publicity caused taxes to be cut 11.7 per cent in the first year. The taxpayers league plan first was launched in California by a Kern county league in Bakersfield.

Full Meal by Hypodermic Needle Declared Possible

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—A full meal by hypodermic needle—an improvement on the old idea of a meal in a pill—becomes reality under a discovery announced to the American Medical association here today.

The discovery enables a doctor to inject proteins, the "ham, eggs and milk" of menus, directly into the blood. Heretofore, the needle has been confined to injecting sugars, water and salts.

The needle meals will save the lives of persons whose stomachs refuse food. This happens not infrequently after surgical operations. While the patients do not directly starve to death, their partial starvation weakens them so that other complications kill them.

The protein injection leaves only fats and vitamins to be completely absorbed by the body. Some of the "ideal diet" by needle. Some of the vitamins already are in pure form which can be injected.

Germany Ignores Debts of Austria

BREMEN, Germany. (AP)—Economics Minister Walther Funk declared today that Germany was not obligated to acknowledge debts of annexed Austria either from the viewpoint of international law or on economic or moral grounds.

In a speech here Funk asserted that "there is no legal obligation for the German reich to take over these (Austrian) debts."

"England, for instance, declined after the Boer war to recognize the debts of the Boer republic as her own," he added.

F. D. R. SIGNS BILL FOR PRADO DAM

Construction on the $7,000,000 Prado dam in Santa Ana canyon may be started within two months.

President Roosevelt today had signed the war department's civil appropriations bill, providing $2,125,000 for start of construction, and army engineers allotted the funds for expenditure during the next 12 months.

Actual starting date on the dam's construction depends only on the speed with which the army lets the contract for the flood control basin, main link in the $15,000,000 flood control program authorized last year, for which $2,500,000 in bonds were voted last summer.

Maj. Theodore Wyman, jr., army engineer for Southern California, said the contract would be let with the least possible delay.

The $2,125,000 allotted today was part of a $122,455,846 allocation by army engineers for expenditure during the next 12 months on rivers and harbors and flood control projects.

San Berdoo Man Kills Wife and Self

SAN BERNARDINO. (AP)—John R. Griffin, 40, shot and killed his estranged wife, Frances, 37, today, then turned the gun on himself, dying as police broke into the house, Coroner R. E. Williams announced after an investigation.

A note which Griffin left described his life as ruined by marital troubles, the coroner said. Mrs. Griffin secured an interlocutory decree of divorce some months ago, and recently appealed to police for protection, saying she feared her husband.

Kidnaper's Appeal Fails to Save Life

DEVALUATION RUMORED

LONDON. (AP)—Abnormally large purchases of gold were recorded again today in the London market as hoarders hedged against rumors of dollar devaluation or a possible increase in the United States gold price of $35 an ounce.

Repeated official denials of such inflationary steps and lack of any confirmation for reports involving the homeward trip to United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, who sailed yesterday, apparently had some effect. Purchases of 1,188,000 pounds ($5,904,000) in gold at price fixing time were considerably below yesterday's high total for the year of 1,773,000 pounds ($8,814,000).

But for the second successive day the price was boosted one penny to 140 shillings ten pence an ounce, up 3 1/2 pence since Monday's meeting of the four leading bullion brokers of the world who set the price daily in the dingy Rothschild banking parlors.

Pioneer In Russ Relief Work Dies

LONDON. (AP)—Lady Muriel Paget, 61, pioneer in Russian relief work who denied an accusation of having worked for the British intelligence service, died in her sleep during the night.

Lady Muriel, wife of Sir Arthur Surtees Paget, founded the British subjects in Russia relief association, organized the Anglo-Russian hospital in Petrograd during the World war and conducted post-war relief work in many countries.

Congress Agrees On Last Bills; to Adjourn Tonight

Only Two Measures Await Final Action; Major Issues Are Decided

WASHINGTON. (AP)—A joint senate-house conference committee agreed today on a compromise deficiency appropriations bill, clearing the way for adjournment of congress by tonight. The conference group worked out the compromise on the $290,000,000 bill in less than four hours shortly after the senate had almost completed action on the administration's $3,753,000,000 spending-lending program. The latter measure went back to the house for a vote on a minor amendment, however. Both chambers arranged to consider the compromise deficiency measure as soon as copies of it could be compiled by clerks. Those were the only two major measures awaiting final action. As prospects for a quick adjournment improved, President Roosevelt moved up to about 7 p. m. the time of his planned departure for New England, where he will attend the wedding on Saturday of his son, John.

Disagreement over provisions of the deficiency bill involving only about $10,000,000 of appropriations was the chief obstacle to adjournment.

The bill as passed by the house carried allotments totaling $278,000,000. The senate added $10,000,000 to that.

When the two branches agree how much of that $10,000,000 shall be left in the bill finally passed, the weary congressmen can go home.

Already out of the way were most major pieces of legislation. The wage-hour bill awaited President Roosevelt's consideration. Even controversial flood control legislation, over which a filibuster threatened yesterday, was at the White House.

Action on the $3,753,000,000 spending-lending bill was almost completed when the senate approved formula, previously passed by the house, for distribution of $212,000,000 of farm benefit payments carried by the measure.

Subsequently the senate agreed to a $700,000 compromise of the rural electrification authority administrative allocation, also contained in the bill, and this was sent to the house for action.

The senate joined the house in overriding President Roosevelt's veto of a bill continuing lower interest rates on government farm loans. Its vote of 57 to 18 against the veto made the measure law.

JAPS BLAMED FOR FLOOD

MANILA, P. I. (AP)—The disastrous Yellow river flood in China was blamed upon Japanese armies in a statement issued by the Chinese consulate general here today.

The statement asserted Japanese warplanes continued to bomb a break in the dyke north of Chungmu and "straffed fleeing refugees with machine guns."

CANTON, China. (AP)—An official proclamation that six Japanese planes attempting an attack on the Canton area had been shot down today started joyous celebrations in this much-bombed city.

The announcement, by the local government, asserted Chinese pursuit planes met and defeated the invaders. Canton's remaining populace, which has suffered death-dealing Japanese air attacks almost without respite for three weeks, received the news ecstatically.

Signal Hill Oil Man Dies in S. D.

SAN DIEGO. (AP)—The death of Charles D. Cather, 62, brother of Willa Cather, the novelist, was ascribed to a heart attack by the coroner's office today.

Cather, a resident of Long Beach and a wealthy Signal Hill oil man, died in a hotel Tuesday while here on a business trip.

U. S. Plans World Disarmament Move, British Prime Minister Says

LONDON READY TO AID PLAN, HE DECLARES

LONDON. (AP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain told the House of Commons today that the United States government had indicated it was preparing to make definite proposals to secure world disarmament.

Asked by Arthur Henderson, labor member, if Britain were willing to "join with the United States government in making definite proposals with a view to securing a halt in the arms race," Chamberlain replied tersely:

"The United States government have suggested they are going to make an attempt."

The prime minister refused to elaborate on this brief statement. The discussion was opened when Henderson, son of the late Arthur Henderson, who was president of the world disarmament conference, asked the prime minister whether the British government agreed with a recent speech by Secretary Cordell Hull favoring disarmament.

Chamberlain replied:

"Yes, sir. His majesty's government are in full agreement with the sentiments expressed by Mr. Cordell Hull in his recent speech, and they are always ready to co-operate with other nations on the subject."

Britain herself is in the midst of a gigantic rearmament program, and recently has taken no lead in attempts at disarmament in view of unsettled world conditions.

Only today she floated an £80,000,000 ($400,000,000) loan to help finance the rearmament program, cost of which originally was set at $7,500,000,000, but now is expected to exceed that by 50 per cent.

(Secretary Hull in an address at Nashville, Tenn., on June 3, said the United States, "with the world groaning under the burden of mounting armaments," was "prepared to join with other nations in moving resolutely toward bringing about an effective agreement on limitation and progressive reduction of armaments.")

(He added: "With the use of armed force assuming the aspect of scarcely imaginable brutality, we are prepared to join with other nations in resuming and vigorously carrying forward the work, so auspiciously begun at The Hague two generations ago, of humanizing by common agreement the rules and practices of warfare.")

a solution to traffic problems. Long ago the stream lines adopted this system in order to make the egress from metropolitan areas more rapid. The traffic trouble now is congestion. How to relieve that condition is perplexing engineers. But it can be solved. Money and brains will turn the trick.

The trouble with this kidnapping business, which is becoming altogether too common, is that the kidnaper is getting both the money and the child. A man who will resort to kidnapping hasn't any intention of returning the child in the first place. Better not lose both.

Passing the old headquarters of the WPA formerly located in the Ramona building second floor, I noticed one window open and I was wondering if Dan McWherron had jumped out or moved to San Clemente. You can imagine how relieved I was to meet Dan a few minutes later at one of the local cafes. Yep, he's still running for supervisor.

An inclemency in weather conditions is said to be unhealthy for growing crops, and not enthusiastically received by merchants. But who makes the weather, anyway, and what are you going to do about it? We have had weather for a long time, and seldom has it been satisfactory to everybody at the same time. A weather complaint is about as useless as a session of congress.

13 Ushers for Roosevelt Wedding

NAHANT, Mass. (AP)—John Roosevelt reported today that through a last minute revision he would have 13 ushers at his wedding on Saturday—but this he regarded as an omen of good luck rather than bad.

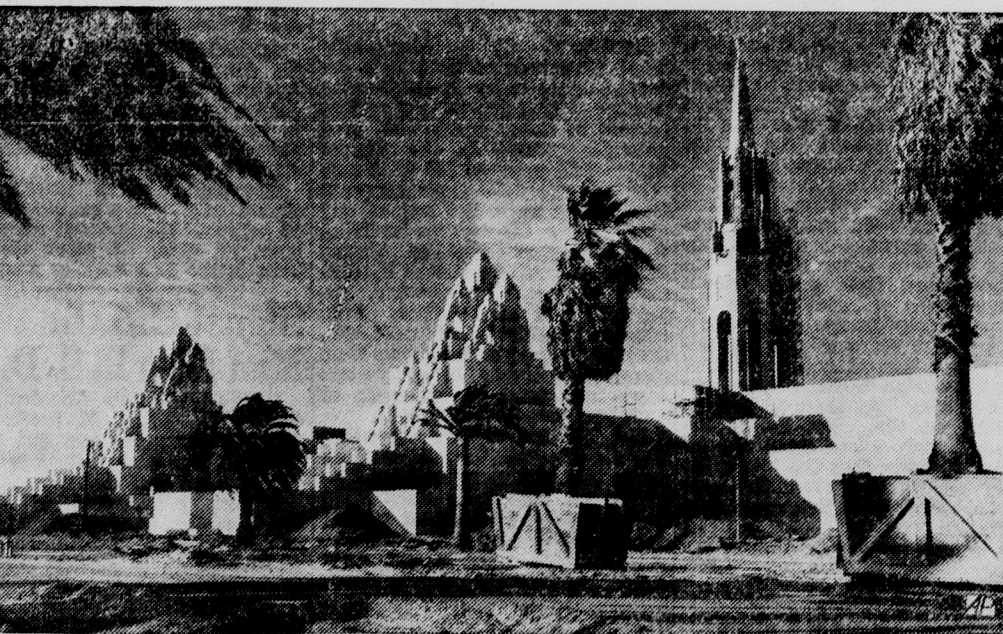

John told newspapermen that 13 was his lucky number, inasmuch as he was born on March 13, 1916 and his prospective bride, Anne Lindsay Clark, on July 13, 1916. John and Anne became engaged on Sept. 13, 1937.

SAM LONG WINS TOASTMASTERS TALK CONTEST

President Sam Long of Tustin won first honors in the regular speaking contest last night of Smedley chapter of Toastmasters, in Daniger's cafe. His talk, "The Class of Any Year," was a critical evaluation of a college education. Daniel K. Brown won second place. Brown expressed the conviction that through the work of secret legislative committees we are coming into a new day, when the wrong influence of pressure groups will be eliminated.

Other speakers included Dr. R. E. Buell, who spoke on the topic, "The Death of a Hobby"; Tad Cook, with his opening craft talk; Dr. Perry E. Davis, "Cycles"; W. W. Cadwallader, "Around the Fire-side"; and George T. DeRouillac, who spoke concerning the candidacy of Ralph Smedley in The Journal courtesy contest.

The club unanimously endorsed Smedley as their candidate to the contest because of "his courtesy and kindness in dealing with the public." Smedley, who is founder of Toastmasters International, is secretary of the Y. M. C. A. here.

Harry Kemmerer was general critic of the evening, assisted by D. H. Tibbals, A. T. Kline, Walter

Ferris, H. O. Ensign, Jim Wright and T. E. McLeod. Dr. W. L. Jolivet acted as toastmaster. Many guests were in attendance, among whom were Dr. Mark A. Dalton, Orville Buell, Jack Ladewig, Harold Irwin, Dr. L. C. Davidson and Mel Curtis.

JIM LOONEY OF COSTA MESA IN SHERIFF RACE

One of the rumored "dark horse" candidates for sheriff and new aspirants for Orange district supervisor and district attorney lived proceedings in County Clerk B. J. Smith's office today.

Jim Looney of Costa Mesa, former chief of police at Brea, took out nomination papers and announced he would be a candidate for Sheriff Logan Jackson's position.

Looney was assistant chief of police in Newport Beach in 1920, and resigned to accept the Brea position, which he held in 1922 and 1923. For many years he was a police officer in Imperial valley, and has a total of 17 years of police experience. He is a World War veteran.

Meanwhile L. A. Bortz of Orange, former farm bureau president and prominent rancher, took out papers in opposition to Chairman Willard Smith of the board of supervisors. He is the first candidate to oppose Smith in this year's campaign.

A. P. Nelson, former district attorney and now a candidate for his former job, filed his signed petitions at noon today, qualifying for a place on the August ballot. W. Maxwell Burke, Santa Ana attorney, took out papers yesterday afternoon for the same position.

G. E. Thompson, Laguna Beach real estate man, took out papers for the Democratic central committee, fifth district, and J. B. Horner of Fullerton took out four sets of papers for candidates for Republican central committee, third district.

MOOSE LODGE INITIATES 8 CANDIDATES

Eight new candidates were initiated into the Moose lodge during the organization's meeting last night. At this session it was announced that a banner class will be initiated June 22 when several state officers of the lodge will pay an official visit to Santa Ana.

The champion degree team of the south will do the initiatory work. Visitors are expected from Long Beach, San Pedro, Compton, Whittier and Huntington Park. The Golden state lodge of Los Angeles and the greater Los Angeles lodge are planning to appear in a body at the Moose hall.

Membership Director Thomas Sullivan hopes to have the regional membership director, J. C. Isenhour, present to address the lodge at the occasion. He has just returned from Mooseheart convention.

Indians Want a Tribesman Carved Into Mt. Rushmore

GETTYSBURG, S. D. (AP)—The clubs of the Iroquois federation, the Wam Bi To and the Wapa Waste, have suggested that to the figures of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt now being carved in massive size on Mount Rushmore, in the Black Hills, there be added a fifth, that of an Indian. Advanced as possibilities were Sitting Bull, noted in the days of General Custer; Pontiac, Ottawa chief; Tecumseh, a Shawnee chief; Hiawatha, and Sacajawea, Shoshone squaw who guided the Lewis and Clark expedition.

FRANCO'S TRAP FORCES FLIGHT

HENDAYE, France. (AP)—Spanish insurgents sprang a carefully set trap on the government's last-ditch defenders in the Pyrenees mountain passes today, forcing the government's "lost" forty-third division to flee across the frontier into France.

The fighting in the far north, however, was only one phase of widespread insurgent offensives. Generalissimo Francisco Franco was said to have ordered commanders in all areas to launch campaigns to bring the civil war to a quick close.

In the south, a major battle developed on the Cordoba front. Insurgents reported they had advanced about 10 miles in two days in the mountainous sector northwest of Penaroya, where the government has built strong lines.

Australia Has Cycling Boom

SYDNEY, Australia. (American Wire)—This city is experiencing its greatest bicycling boom. Tandems have never been so popular here. A model with a small sidecar will soon be marketed.

EX-BRITISH WAR HERO DIES IN ORANGE

Harry Cole, 84, died Tuesday in West Orange. A native of England, he had resided in California for 52 years. In 1876 he joined the British 15th regiment, later known as the East Yorkshire regiment, and after a short period of training at Aldershot, he left for Bombay, India.

He was in the Afghanistan war and was awarded the Afghan medal for service in 1878. Returning to England he went into the reserves, and was later called out for the Egyptian campaign during which time he served with the Royal Sussex in Egypt and was one of the volunteers who went to the relief of General Gordon. He was wounded on several occasions during his career in the army.

He came to Riverside in 1886 and later moved to Orange county, making his home in Westminster for a number of years. Funeral services for Mr. Cole were held this morning at the Smith and Tutill chapel with the Canadian Legion Orange County post No. 42, B. E. S. L. officiating.

Youths Mutilate County Postoffice

Coast Guard Plane Hunts 'Pirate' Ship and Crew of Boys

YACHT HEADED TO COCOS ISLE WITH 3 ABOARD

SAN DIEGO, (AP)—A coast guard plane was ordered aloft today in a renewed hunt for the $25,000 ketch Tira which a "pirate" crew of three runaway boys was believed to be sailing toward Cocos island, legendary site of buried treasure. Latest of many "clues" brought to coast guardsmen since the yacht and the boys disappeared simultaneously from Santa Cruz, Calif., three weeks ago today, led to the new plane search.

Capt. Joe Marina of the tuna clipper vigilante reported last night he had spoken to three boys last Thursday on a yacht off San Gerónimo island, 200 miles south of San Diego and 700 miles south of Santa Cruz.

Coast guardsmen doubted it was the Tira but weren't "passing up any bets." The yacht Marina saw was white. The Tira, when it left Monterey, was black.

San Gerónimo is along the 2500-mile route from Santa Cruz to Cocos island, pirate base of the Spanish sailing days to which 17-year-old Lyle Tara, supposed leader of the runaway boys, was known to have charted a course.

Lew K. Foote, owner of the missing craft, said Tara and his crew—James Henninger, 17, and Bill Grace, 16—probably would have encountered no trouble, except with navigation. Tara had a library book on the subject to guide him.

The Tira was stocked with six weeks' provisions, 300 gallons of water, and enough fuel to run the auxiliary Diesel engine for 300 miles. Seas have been calm and the 52-foot sailing craft was perfectly seaworthy.

The tax commissioner of the islands says that the interest on such borrowings were quite substantial. He proves his statement by reporting that during the 1933-35 biennium (which was before the gross income tax law was adopted) the interest paid to banks upon warrants issued amounted to $145,326.48. In a report issued two and one-half years after the law was adopted he says: "Since the inception of the law it has not been necessary to borrow from the banks as the tax is paid monthly and we have always had more than sufficient funds to carry on governmental functions."

The experience in Hawaii with the gross income tax law in eliminating the principal and interest of the public debt is what the Townsendites are claiming will happen in America when the Townsend transaction tax law comes into effect, viz: both the principal and the interest of the national debt will be liquidated. This will be in addition to the ability to pay the liberal annuities of the Townsend plan to the aged.

The gross income tax is regarded by the tax commissioner of Hawaii as merely a "privilege" tax paid for the privilege of doing business in the territory. The cost of such privilege being measured as he says "by the gross income."

The first step in the administration of the law was to establish a licensing method by which all concerns and individuals coming under the law as being liable for the paying of a gross income tax are licensed. This has enabled the tax commissioner to know just how many businesses there are in the retail or wholesale furniture business, or both, etc.

One of the problems confronting the territory of Hawaii in collecting the gross income tax was to avoid violating constitutional law. Hawaii being a part of the American nation the laws relating to interstate or foreign commerce as established by congress, naturally had to be considered. The tax commissioner, William Borthwick, in commenting on this particular problem in his summary report, says: "It is quite obvious that we cannot levy a tax upon income received from sales made in interstate and foreign commerce. This would mean that sales of sugar and pineapples could not be taxed." He explains how this problem was met by saying: "For the privilege of processing sugar and canning pineapples within the territory, the 1 1/2 per cent rate is levied upon the value of the sugar and pineapples, immediately before entering the interstate or foreign commerce. This value is arrived at by deducting the cost of marketing from the ultimate selling price." He also says: "The sugar and pineapple industries paid 33.88 per cent of the total gross income taxes received in 1937."

It is easy to see how much more simple would be the problems connected with the administering of a national transaction tax such as the Townsend movement advocates than it is for territory of Hawaii to administer its gross income tax law while circumventing more or less by laws relating to interstate and federal commerce. It becomes more and more apparent that there are some problems relating to government which cannot be successfully handled except on a national basis. Among such problems are those for which the Townsend movement in particular is interested in applying a speedy solution. I refer particularly to the paying of old age annuities and of the applying of tax measures which will make such possible.

There is fault in the national old age security act in that it administers the paying of old age assistance in cooperation with the states and counties within such states. Likewise taxes are collected similarly by the three agencies, viz: the county, the state and the nation which grant the benefits. The Townsend 2 per cent transaction tax or the gross income tax as used in Hawaii if applied nationally would work out more beneficially and be more easy of administration. This is the sixth and final article connected with the gross income tax law as used in Hawaii.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This column deals with Townsend news and views. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

The nation is worried because of a mounting public debt on which the interest alone now amounts to approximately $1,000,000,000 per year. This interest represents an income which the banks loaning the money enjoy and a tax which the people themselves must pay. The politicians running for office this fall will capitalize on the largeness of the national debt and the fear which it has instilled in the people. They will tell you what they will do about it, if elected, and then afterwards proceed to forget the terrible bugaboo the debt and the interest on it represent. But press them after having been elected to apply the Townsend plan transaction tax as a remedy and about nine out of every ten of them will become evasive.

In Hawaii prior to the enactment of the gross income tax law, the territory had a similar experience on a smaller scale with a public debt and accruing interest. The politicians as a whole were like the ones in continental America, opposed to such a tax. Governor Poindexter was an exception and eventually obtained the law for the territory. But prior to this it was necessary for the carrying on of the functions of government to borrow funds from the local banks.

The tax commissioner of the islands says that the interest on such borrowings were quite substantial. He proves his statement by reporting that during the 1933-35 biennium (which was before the gross income tax law was adopted) the interest paid to banks upon warrants issued amounted to $145,326.48. ## I Just Found Out About Orange County

Costliest, most apparent and least known-about landmark in Orange county is located at the county's northwesternmost tip—almost in the ocean, almost in Los Angeles county.

Thousands of people pass it every day. Most have wondered what it is and what it's for; some have asked about it and have learned it's the Los Angeles light and power plant. But comparatively few know why it's located in the tiny city of Seal Beach, and fewer yet have been inside.

Day or night, the $6,000,000 stunner—by long odds the most costly plant in the county—looms on the horizon like a lighthouse for any motorist driving along the coastline. For the past few weeks, in fact, the huge plant actually has served as a light house, because a set of big lamps were mounted at the tip of its towering smokestack as warning and guidepost to offshore vessels.

If you, as a layman, were to drop in at the plant (they don't particularly encourage it) and get a glimpse of the interior, you'd be impressed with the size of everything.

They'd recite some figures—kilowatt hours, horsepower, volts, etc.—that you wouldn't comprehend. But if you went home, got out a slide rule and reduced them to a common denominator, here's about what you'd get:

The plant could churn out as much electricity as three Orange counties could use even during peak season; in power, its daily output capacity is equal to nearly two and a half million horses; and its high-tension wires carry 110,000 volts (600 volts would knock you flat, and 15,000 makes a pretty fair high-tension line).

Operated by the city of Los Angeles (since last year, when it was purchased from Southern California Gas and Electric), the Seal Beach plant actually is a stand-by electricity factory, ready to pick up more than one-fourth of the normal metropolitan power load in an emergency (majority of the L. A. supply now is from Boulder dam).

Principle of the Seal Beach generating plant is practically opposite to that at Boulder, Engineer Pettigill points out. Only two practical ways to generate electricity are by steam power and by water power; Boulder uses water, Seal Beach uses steam.

Here's the way the steam system works: Big boiler (25,450 square feet) is fired by oil, water super-heated into steam, carried in huge tubes into steam turbines, which it turns at 1800 revolutions per minute to generate power. The steam then is condensed by use of a circulating pump that runs cold water next to the steam tubes.

Chief advantage of the Seal Beach location is in the condensing process, since ocean water, always cool, can be used. The plant is located directly on the ocean front.

Most constant thing about the process is the speed with which the turbines revolve, since that's what produces 60-cycle alternating current. The 1800 r.p.m. (30 revolutions per second) makes the current reverse 60 times a second, because four brushes in the big generators are polarized alternately, cause the current to change from north to south and back again on each revolution.

Two big turbines (one with a 35,000-kilowatt capacity, the other capable of 40,000) together can generate 1,800,000 kilowatt hours of electricity in a day, although they're rarely run at top production. They generate 13,200 volts of power, which in turn goes into transformers, gets stepped up to 110,000 volts.

The 110,000-volt lines go through two sets of circuit breakers (so one can be under repair while the other still functions) and up to a "bus" (common carrier), with two circuits taking the terrific charge out to Los Angeles and another circuit carrying it to the Nevada-California power company, a Los Angeles client.

Attached to the big generators like a flea to a dog is a "small" generator which churns out 1500 kilowatts of power "just to run the machines around the plant."

Even though majority of the water converted into steam can be condensed back into water, enough is lost in the process so the Seal Beach plant is one of the biggest water users in the county, supplies itself with a private well.

Except for occasional shutdowns caused by short circuits, other troubles (the 110,000-volt high-lines shorted out the roof during the earthquake and produced a pretty fair fireworks display), the plant is operated 24 hours a day. Chief reasons: It's too expensive to start up the big equipment, and alternating current can't be stored, so the plant's chief value is to have electricity always available when needed.

OFFICERS OF COUNTY MEET AT LAGUNA

LAGUNA BEACH.—Orange County Peace Officers association members listened attentively at their Laguna Beach meeting held last evening at the Hotel Del Camino, to Henry H. Livingston, district inspector, explain how the California Highway Patrol is functioning to gain public respect and confidence, because the highway patrol works for the public.

He revealed the progress which had been made over a period of years to gain the cooperation of the people, which had changed a situation from shielding violators to one of prompt notification of authorities when traffic infractions occur.

Livingston said the highway department welcomed criticism and suggestions which had for their objective the creation of greater safety. He was definitely opposed to the proposed measure to create a commission of five at a salary of $6000 annually to have control of the state highway department, insisting that it would throw it into politics and make it responsible to politicians instead of the public which created it.

"I have no hat for you to tramp on these times," she said archly. "And your chaparrone is watching, anyway," Jim laughed. "I at most never knock young ladies down when their chaparrones are watching."

She laughed with him, musically. She was very young, thought Jim. It was soothing to stroll in the moonlight with her hand upon his arm. It gave him a feeling of tranquility after the bitterness of his recent encounter with Vara.

Her character, he realized, was the antithesis of Vara's. The older girl was a stormy petrel; Dolores was a sweet, simple child—obviously romantic, but naively so.

AFTER a while, they came to a spot overlooking the moonlit harbor—could see the Sea Gull anchored out there. Some verses Jim had read long ago came welling up from his subconscious mind.

He spoke the first verse aloud, scarcely realizing that he did so: "A lone ship upon a phosphorescent sea, Gleaming arc of silvery beach, Etched by moon and limbo; Spirelike palms leaning avidly to sky of azure glass, Gaunt cypress—gnarled man-grove festooned with drooping moss."

Ah, Shadow Land of lost desire! Of these are thy sinews wrought."

Dolores was leaning close to him. "Eet ees beautiful," she murmured. "Tell me more."

He shook his head. "The rest

Blind Costa Mesa Woman Blocks Daughter's Move

Mrs. Cora Belle Brooks, blind Costa Mesa resident, today had won her court fight to prevent her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Hatch of Laguna Beach, from becoming her guardian.

Superior Judge G. K. Scovel late yesterday ordered letters of guardianship issued to Public Administrator Earl Abbey, who was directed to pay all income from the $10,800 estate to Mrs. Brooks, except what is necessary for taxes.

Mrs. Beulah King, Los Angeles, who is to take Mrs. Faris' place, was welcomed by her co-workers. Other special guests of the evening were Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. McIntosh and Mrs. Dorothy King. Stephens is district traffic superintendent and McIntosh is his assistant. Mrs. King is evening chief operator. Corsages were presented to the women.

New Bond Issue for Vets' Homes Urged

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Richard J. Welch, Jr., new chairman of the state veterans' welfare board, said today he will recommend to 1939 legislature that a new $20,000,000 bond issue be floated to finance the purchase of homes and farms for California World War veterans.

Welch said that with present funds available it will be impossible to take care of approximately 6000 applications for funds which are pending.

CELLAR FALL VALUED $1500

Eighteen-year-old Vivian Forster of Fullerton, descendant of an early-day family of noted Southern California landowners, today had judgment for $1500 against owners of a Fullerton service station because a trapdoor catapulted her into the cellar.

Miss Forster yesterday afternoon won her suit against Shipkey and Pearson, Inc., and Rio Grande and Richfield Oil companies over the fall, which occurred last Oct. 31. She sustained a scar on her face and impairment of her sight. Her attorneys were Martell Thompson of Orange and Glenn S. Roberts of Los Angeles. Fred Forgy of Santa Ana represented the oil companies.

Police News

Pleading guilty to stealing oranges and pulling up some young trees in a grove, Elmer Staag and Fred Gass have been certified to the juvenile court.

A stolen bicycle, with rear wheel missing, belonging to Larence Reyes, 1829 West First street, was recovered yesterday.

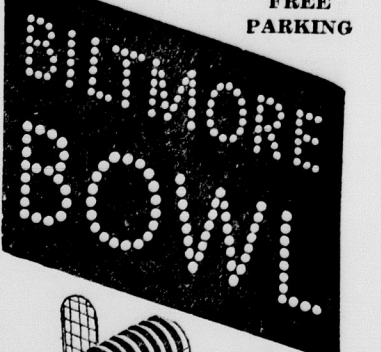

Breaking the lock with an iron bar, someone stole 115 gallons of gasoline, a grease pump and an oil gun, with a total value of $18.25, from the No. 8 trap wagon belonging to the county road department.

Someone has been throwing tacks in his driveway at night. A Zumbro, Ball road, reported the theft of a battery and auto tools from a shed on his residence.

Cop-Nurse Romance Is Theme of Show

Bringing to the screen an unusual love story of the hard-boiled cop who woos a girl by reciting poetry, the high tension dramatic romance, "Nurse From Brooklyn" opens today at the West Coast theater along with "Bar 20 Justice," another popular Hopalong Cassidy outdoor action drama.

The theme of "Nurse From Brooklyn" drives home the lesson that crime does not pay. Sally Eilers plays the nurse who in spite of herself finds her heart swaying to the policeman, Paul Kelly, the man she thinks has shot down her brother in cold blood.

The story of a battle between gold rustlers and ranchers in the cattle country of the old Southwest is told in "Bar 20 Justice," with William Boyd again cast as the hero of the range.

"Natural Wonders of the West," a color travelogue, and World News events completes the program.

TO BE TESTED;
HERVEY HERE

Edgar B. Hervey, San Diego attorney, hired by county supervisors to prosecute the "fee cases" under the county's salary ordinance, today was paving the way for litigation which may determine:

1. Whether supervisors have the right to take statutory fees from five officials and substitute straight salaries.
2. Whether their method of doing it was legal.
3. Whether Assessor James Sleeper was required by law to itemize mileage allowances.
4. Whether Sheriff Logan Jackson must return his profits, if any, from feeding prisoners and running a canteen in the county jail.

ATTORNEYS CONFER

Hervey conferred with Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton for 40 minutes yesterday afternoon, and was to return for more conversation today on methods to be followed in straightening out the courthouse salary squabble, which has raged since last fall.

Hervey said Menton, who objected to supervisors' hiring the San Diego attorney on a 27½ per cent contingent fee as "special assistance to the district attorney," was "not hard to get along with."

He agrees, he said, with Menton's plan to test legality of the fee-collection by a petition for a writ of mandate, to be filed directly in the fourth district court of appeal.

5 OFFICIALS INVOLVED

He wants the petition, he said, to include all five of the "fee officials" — Sheriff Jackson, Treasurer T. E. Stephenson, Recorder Fred Sidebottom, Health Officer Dr. K. H. Sutherland and Public Administrator Carl Abbey, who have impounded fees collected since the ordinance was passed and are waiting a test of the law's legality, which they question.

Besides the appellate court petition, however, Hervey said suits would be necessary in superior court to determine the amounts due from the sheriff and assessor, if any. The other officials, he said, probably would stipulate to the amount of fees collected since last October, enabling the appellate court to decide the whole issue.

SLEEPER COMES BACK

Assessor Sleeper does not receive fees, and was not affected by the salary ordinance, but his bitter political enemy, Supervisor N. E. West, charged during the flurry of last fall that Sleeper had failed to itemize his $600 annual mileage allowance for several years, and had profited from the sale of maps.

Sleeper, armed with a bundle of receipts for map sales, told the grand jury his accounts were regular, and said he had itemized his mileage for several years until the then county auditor said it was probably unnecessary, since his expenses averaged at least $600 a year, his legal allowance.

Wilhelm Suit
Set for July 11

Wilhelm is suing for $2616.40. Three weeks ago he caused a flurry in legal circles when he accused Fred Forgy, attorney for the bank, of a "ruse" in delaying a deposition by J. L. Bascom, bank official. The case had been set for June 23.

County Plans
Brief Career
As Landlord

Orange county today was buying all sorts of things—stores, shops, farm homes and other structures, and was headed for a spectacular if brief career in the real estate rental business.

Chairman Willard Smith of the board of supervisors admitted today that acquisition of 9000 acres in the Prado dam basin will give the county flood control district title to "lots of buildings."

The entire town of Prado, which will be in the dam basin when the $7,000,000 structure is built, will be bought by the county. Numerous farm buildings and a school also are located on real estate the county will buy. The school, however, will be moved to a higher level and will not become county property.

Most of the land involved in purchase proceedings now being carried out for the flood control dam is in Riverside county, with smaller portions in Orange and San Bernardino counties.

Supervisors soon will have to hire a caretaker for the county's new buildings. Before the dam is built—it will not be completed for about two years—considerable revenue is expected from rental of the buildings. By that time, most of the present occupants will have moved and the buildings will have been sold and moved or razed. Occupancy of the farms and homes by the present owners as long as possible will be encouraged by the board, Smith said.

BALBOA ISLAND
WOMAN DIES

Mrs. Iris Pearl Brown, 45, 500 South Bay Front, Balboa Island, died today at St. Joseph's hospital.

A native of Texas, she had resided in the beach city for the past 10 years. She was a member of the Eastern Star in Los Angeles, and past president of the American Legion auxiliary of Newport Beach.

She is survived by her husband, James S. Brown. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 3 p. m. from the Dixon chapel in Costa Mesa with interment following in Forest Lawn Memorial park, Glendale.

52 MILLIONS
NOT ENOUGH FOR JOBLESS

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Although $52,900,000 has been appropriated by the state for unemployment relief costs for the biennium ending June 30, 1939, an additional appropriation of at least $2,100,000 will be required.

This estimate by the state controller's office is predicated upon the assumption that Works Progress administration spending the next 12 months will give California the extent of employment aid it received in the 1936-37 fiscal period.

ZERO TO 47 MILLIONS

Cutting down of WPA payrolls about a year ago was one of the factors contributing to the great increase in the financial burden which fell upon the state. Business conditions contributed even more to it.

Unemployment costs which were listed as "nothing" in 1929 and were only $25,000 for the biennium ending June 30, 1933. They rose to $47,907,445 for the biennium ending June 30, 1937.

In June of 1929, according to the state controller's calculation, the state treasury (general fund) had a surplus of $28,548,482. Four years later on the same date there was a deficit of $13,295,252. By June 30, 1937, the deficit had increased to $17,607,102. Today it is approximately $7,500,000.

TAX REVENUES LAG

Until the recession intervened there was a prospect that this would be entirely wiped out and a sizable surplus accumulated. What the state's cash position at the end of the ensuing fiscal year will be will depend upon the business trend and the extent of WPA spending, financial experts assert.

Tax revenues lag behind the business curve several months. Enhanced earnings by corporations and larger personnel incomes during the greater part of the calendar year 1937 are expected to yield a larger tax total than for the previous fiscal year.

The sharp decrease due to the recession in the final months of 1937 and early months of 1938 may cause a disappointment in this expectation. If a business upturn comes soon, the state controller's

In Court July 12

Trial of a $25,000 alienation of affections suit against Mrs. Ruby office estimates revenues may yet permit the wiping out of the deficit and the establishment of a slight surplus.

COLLECTIONS MOUNT

There appears no prospect, however, of achieving a $12,000,000 to $20,000,000 surplus, as once hoped for by the administration.

State tax collections from all sources have risen from $128,926,370 in 1929 to $279,071,878 for the 1937 biennium, and it is estimated California will collect $343,450,000 in taxes for the biennium ending in 1939.

50 CASES IN MANY TOWNS
LAID TO TRIO

An arrest that may solve as many as 50 cases of a time-worn "confidence game," victimizing automobile dealers throughout the Southland, was made by Detective Lieut. Charles Wolford and Patrolman Charles Neer of the Santa Ana police department here yesterday.

Three negroes, two of them wanted in at least six cities, were brought into custody on a tip received from Omer Hansen, employee of the Studebaker garage.

They are Otis Clanton, 35, Los Angeles, who was identified by five persons in Santa Ana and Fullerton; William Powell, 32, Los Angeles, owner of the car they used, and Davis Holmes, 30, Los Angeles, who pleaded not guilty.

On a warning from Harry Fink, assistant chief of police, all automobile dealers of Santa Ana were on the lookout for the negroes, two of whom were identified as the men who victimized salesmen at the L. D. Coffing and George Dunton showrooms. The other negro, found asleep in the back seat, pleaded not guilty.

Hansen, immediately after one of the negroes had left his place, reported to police he saw the man join two others in a coach and head south on Sycamore street. Wolford and Neer caught the trio as one of the negroes approached a salesman at the B. J. McMullen showrooms, Sycamore and First streets.

The Los Angeles Motor Car Dealers association reported the trio probably had victimized more than 20 dealers in Los Angeles alone, and were wanted for two charges in Fullerton, and others in Hollywood, Santa Monica and Compton. Two negroes also had been arrested.

Ballots Cast by Hundreds In Courtesy Contest; Club Backs YMCA Secretary

Courtesy and Efficiency contest votes are flooding the Journal office today. A careful check of those ballots coming through the mail shows that every candidate thus far nominated is receiving a representative quota. Hundreds of other votes are being deposited personally by friends of the candidates.

As a candidate you'd be surprised the number of friends you actually have. Persons from all over the county are voting for Santa Ana nominees and a lot of Santa Ana Journal readers are supporting candidates in other communities.

There are no Smiths listed among the nominees, despite the fact the county directory shows there are several hundred Smiths in this area. The Jones family has but one representative. Mr. Mrs. and Miss White or Brown are yet to be noticed. Certainly the Smiths, Whites and Browns have a number of courteous representatives of their families living in Orange county. If they are to be listed, nominations must come in for them before Saturday midnight, the closing time for naming candidates.

A picture of your candidate printed in The Journal will help a lot of people to identify him or her, thereby giving your nominee additional votes. Send that picture in right away.

The contest editor will gladly publish brief letters about various candidates, also. Give the readers of The Journal an idea as to who the nominee is. It all helps in getting votes.

Believing that their founder, R. C. Smedley, exemplifies, the utmost in courtesy and kindness in his dealing with the public, Smedley chapter of Toastmasters last night decided actively to support the candidacy of the local Y. M. C. A. secretary in The Journal Courtesy contest. Members of the local chapter urge Toastmasters throughout Orange county to rally to the support of Smedley in this tribute to his work.

There are a number of neighborhoods throughout the city where one candidate or another is being backed. ## 3 ARRESTED IN SANTA ANA AS BUNCO EXPERTS attempted to appear before City Judge J. G. Mitchell in Santa Ana police court today. Investigators from the Los Angeles sheriff's office were due here to identify the men.

There are variations to the "bunco" game, but the one that netted them $4.75 at Dunton's and 20 cents at Coffey's worked this way, police said:

One enters an automobile showroom, gets prices on down and monthly payments on an expensive car. He decides to buy it, and even goes as far as signing his name. The down payment, running around $400, "will be paid by my wife if I drive me to Second and Daisy streets, etc." The salesman naturally accepts the offer. On the way the negro asks the salesman if he would mind stopping at the cleaner's for some clothes. He says he would like to borrow $4.75 until he "gets to my wife's place." The salesman gladly loans the smooth-talking, well-dressed negro the money, and never sees him again.

The reason the negro collected only 20 cents from the salesman at Coffey's: Thomas Quinlan suspected a trick, and gave the negro only that amount instead of the $5 bill he sought.

Novel 'Team Wrestling' Scheduled Here Tonight

SMALLINSKI, BRITT FACE STRONG PAIR

Appear in Ring at Same Time Again Keneston, O'Brien

By MATT BURNS

Team wrestling, one of the most sensational and thrilling phases of the sport, with the possible exception of the "battle royal," will be presented for the first time at 8:30 tonight at the Orange County Athletic Club.

Tonight's offering, scheduled for the main event on the weekly card, marks the debut of this angle of the sport in California. Two teams of matmen, the best available in Southern California, will wrestle for two out of three falls to a finish. The men will wrestle as teams and not individuals.

Members of the first team are Alvin Britt, former junior heavyweight champion of the world, and Comrade Josef Smallinski of Russia. Sgt. Bob Keneston of Oregon and Pat (Poppy) O'Brien are the members of Team No. 2.

Promoter "Bud" Levin said that, because of the predicted length of the main event, there would be only two other supporting matches.

In the semi-windup Don Sebastian, sensational Mexican wrestler who gave up a career in grand opera for the mat, meets "Tarzan" Bob Montgomery in a two-out-of-three-fall finish match. Sebastian also has promised to sing during the intermission.

Vander Meer Goes Fishing

MIDLAND PARK, N. J. (AP)—Johnny Vander Meer went fishing today, "mighty pleased" over his two straight no-hit, no-run pitching performances, but happier than all get-out over personal congratulations from Babe Ruth.

The Babe's "nice going, kid" and handshake was the first greeting Johnny received when he finished his 6-0 no-hitter for the Cincinnati Reds against the Brooklyn Dodgers last night.

"And the Babe always has been my idol; believe me, that was the biggest kick of all," said this quiet youngster, who hasn't changed much from the lad who personified in a baseball movie a few years ago.

Louis Odds Change to 11-5

NEW YORK. (AP)—The professional gamblers, impressed by a number of things, have jumped their odds from 8 to 5 to a juicy 11 to 5 that Joe Louis will retain his heavyweight championship in his 15-round fight with Max Schmeling next Wednesday night at Yankee stadium.

That is somewhat disconcerting to those of us who already are well out on the Schmeling limb, even though the odds-layers lately have been dead wrong more often than right.

The previous odds of 7 to 5 and 8 to 5 were no more than the customary "feeler" quotations of

Games Friday Night

M. E. South vs. Montgomery Ward.

Alliance Mutual vs. Treesweet.

Battering down a stubborn Alliance Mutual defense with a three-run, four-hit seventh-inning uprising, Manager Darwin Scott's Elks still were protecting their slim edge on first place in the Santa Ana City league today, as the 4 to 1 victory kept Eltiste's International Trucks a half a game behind last night.

Fighting raggedly while Walt Handley was limiting them to five hits, Manager Herb Meyer's Eltiste company eked out a lucky 5 to 4 decision over Treesweet's six-game losing streak. Treesweet gave Handley a 4 to 1 edge to work on in the first three innings, but was unable to guard the margin as Eltiste's hit in the clutch in the fourth, fifth and sixth to come from behind with four scores.

George Preble Shines

George Preble took runs-batted-in honors in Eltiste's victory. Preble drove in three runs—two on his double in the fourth with Bell and Ortega on base and one on his "life" on the second-base error of his smash in the fifth. Floyd Montgomery scored Gene O'Campo, who had doubled, with a timely hit in the sixth after Meyer had advanced O'Campo into scoring position with a sacrifice.

Repeating the thriller of the first game which the Elks took from Alliance Mutual 2-1, both nines collected six hits. After pitching two-hit ball for six frames, Everett Winkler, Alliance gunner, weakened in the seventh to give up four hits and three runs which broke a 1-1 deadlock.

Bruce Harnois, first up in the seventh, singled and scored all the way from first on Art Heinisch's double. Mickey Walker came through with a single and Heinisch scored. Lyle Morse doubled to bring Walker across the plate. Winkler settled down to get the next two batters out.

EARL HALDERMAN HITS

Earl Halderman, who hit safely three times, started the seventh for Alliance with a double but Harnois bore down, striking out the next two batters.

LeRoy Levens' double and two outfield flies by Fred Cartwright and Dave Webb gave the Elks their first run in the fourth. Alliance evened it after threatening to open up with a run-making attack in the fifth. Roger Dominguez doubled and came all the way in on Lyle Morse's wild throw.

Halderman and Winkler followed with singles. George Padias walked but Russell Gaudin's infield hit was pegged home to trap Halderman and Ralph Winkler fled out.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

By JOHN HIX

A FRIEND IN NEED... Ten minutes a day, every day for five and a quarter years, L. E. Lookabill, Roanoke, Va., visited a sick friend in a local hospital. Lookabill set this time aside for the one purpose and let nothing interrupt it. Death alone intervened to halt his daily visits which continued without a miss for 1915 consecutive days.

Lookabill in all spent 319 hours, or 13 1/4 days at his friend's bedside, yet stranger still is the fact that this time was divided into 10-minute daily installments spread over a long period of time.

The sick friend was Captain Edward J. Rowan, former chief clerk of the chief engineer of maintenance of the Norfolk and Western Railway at Roanoke.

"Captain Rowan suffered three strokes before his death," Lookabill says. "I called and entertained him for about 10 minutes each time for 1915 days in succession and found him a real companion, never once referring to his ailment."

Lookabill paid a final tribute to his friend by serving as a pall-bearer at his funeral.

Drouth In Europe

A most revealing news dispatch says that the general European war now in prospect may be delayed by the serious drought that is sweeping the continent.

Napoleon voiced the universally accepted maxim that an army travels on its stomach. At the moment, there is a scarcity of food to fill those stomachs. Even warlike Italy is facing such a food shortage that she plans to buy wheat from her mortal foe, Russia.

We can do a lot in changing the world's destiny. Men have remade the world. But the tremendous forces of nature can go further in shaping the future than any man or group of men.

Just stop to think: how important would Stalin, or Hitler, or Mussolini be if scientists suddenly proved to the world that we faced a new Ice Age which would cover Europe and North America during the next few years?

Though improbable, such a thing is in the realm of possibility.

That, or a dozen other possible physical changes, could so affect the history of the world that the names of Mussolini and the other dictators would mean less than nothing to future generations.

All of which is a thought over which the dictators, in their glory, should ponder.

The senate military affairs committee has recommended a bill providing for compulsory purchase of bonds in time of war, the amount beginning at 5 per cent of fortunes of $1000 up to 75 per cent of $100,000,000, 1 per cent interest to be paid. There's one of the horrors of war that may give us peace.

More Trouble For Freddie

A new suit for $40,000 has been filed against the earnings of Freddie Bartholomew, the little English lad who crashed the films with an English accent.

As things stand now, Freddie is due to leave the films one of these days and, it is well reported, he'll have perhaps $10,000 and a few unpleasant memories left out of the million he will have earned.

Seeing him in his last picture was a sorry sight to those who know his story, for it is obvious that he is now reaching the gawky age where his services will soon no longer be required.

To those of us who are in normal, happy families, with just regular kids of our own, there is something both fantastic and sinister in the way parents can become money-grabbers when their children become film stars.

Are these film parents just ordinary folk who get upset by the sudden inrush of gold? Or would any parents lose their sense of perspective under similar circumstances? The easy answer is "no"; but there is something to be said on the other side as well.

A Hollywood executive has agreed to pay his former wife $1400 a month as long as he makes $3000 a week. Which reminds us that they had quite a scrap over the wage-and-hour bill establishing a minimum wage of $11.

Faith in the Future

It is easy for anyone to voice great faith in the future. The real evidence of such faith, however, is in putting your money on the line.

Such real faith is shown by Clarence Francis, who announces that General Foods corporation, which he heads, is starting construction of the world's largest coffee refinery, in Hoboken, N. J., with almost half a million feet of floor space.

"This is a time of troubled affairs and uncertain minds," Francis declares. "In a country of abundantly rich resources there exists the paradox of unemployment and mounting debts. But regardless of the jitters in some quarters, business is not going to sell the country short. We have faith in the nation's future, and we're going ahead. We believe it is our job to do so, and we think it's just good business."

Heartening words, backed by action. Wise and strong business leaders, such as Clarence Francis, will be the deciding factor in pulling America out of its present slump.

Sally Rand is now talking in churches. Good thing for Chicago gate receipts she didn't get religion before the fair.

Of No Importance

Los Angeles newspapers report a solemn announcement from Burton Fitts, district attorney, that he will not be a candidate for United States senator.

So, we'll give you a bit of negative news, too. We hereby disclose that we do not think anybody is going to be greatly excited by Burton's decision; that, in our humble opinion, he would not have received either the nomination or the election if he had run; and that there is not the slightest bit of importance either to his not running or to our not thinking that he'd win if he did run.

The new Rockefeller twins are named Michael and Mary, but it will not be good form to call them Mike and Moll.

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK. —There is in this country a class of citizens who believe that the True American is a person of British, Irish, Scandinavian or North German stock and that all other Americans, even of the third or fourth generation, are here by their very kind permission and courtesy and owe a polite duty, as guests, to conform to their habits and ideas.

I recently heard a speech by a noted American world war commander in which he advanced this thought and threatened if these others did not show the proper attitude, then they had a way in the army of compelling obedience. He said that if "they" insisted on abusing the liberty which he, acting through his forebears, had established here, then the real Americans, of whom he acknowledged himself to be one, would have to take firm measures.

A Country Club
The distinguished officer seemed to regard the United States as a rather exclusive suburban country club which, in order to meet the overhead in a period of necessity, had admitted large numbers of Class B members. He and his class, of course, enjoyed full membership, and each owned a share of the stock. They were annoyed by the bad manners of the Class B's and were beginning to regret that they had been allowed to come in and, worse, given voting privileges.

The officer made no mention of the work for the benefit of the club which the Class B's had performed, the pick and shovel duty, all the hard and dirty tasks, with which the Class A citizens of the last few generations had been too smart and fastidious to soil their hands. He complained that the country was overcrowded, with 122,000,000 demanding food, cover and clothing, as compared with 50,000,000 50 years ago.

There were only a hundred or so in the audience, and the flutter of applause when he finished his remark may have been merely a tribute of politeness to the man rather than approval of anything in his speech.

It seemed a proper occasion for someone to remind the gallant soldier that he was in no position to peer down his nose at any other law-abiding citizen and, in fact, was himself in need of some reminding as to the meaning of liberty and Americanism.

I know it is trite to say so, but there are still many Americans, particularly in the upper economic and social brackets, who cannot be reminded too often that this is not, as they try to believe, an Anglo-Saxon or Nordic or Aryan country. We speak, read and write our version of the English language, we share Shakespeare with the British — whatever that may mean — and our laws are similar, but we brought in millions of Italians, Serbs, Poles, Greeks and Rumanians to do the strong-back work at a time when the cities and railroads were building and they stayed, and their children and grandchildren are here, and nobody is going to send them back and nobody is going to make Anglo-Saxons of them. They are just Americans, and it would be good to have it understood that no individual among these people owes any apology to anyone else on the ground that the other one's ancestors farmed a New England patch before the Revolution.

It Doesn't Count
That may be a pleasant thought, and the Class A member of the club are entitled to any happiness it gives them, but it has no value at the polls, elsewhere. Native Americans, of course, have no certificate of citizenship, but if they did have such the class might be surprised and a little upset to discover that a man with a pure British name whose forebears fought in the Revolution rated precisely the same ticket as the others.

I discussed the officers' remarks with him after he had left the platform and tried to learn just how anyone would go about compelling "them" to show a proper appreciation of the American liberties without destroying the very liberties which he was so anxious to preserve. He couldn't give a very clear idea of the procedure and plainly was just out of patience with the active citizenship of peoples who have now been here long enough to feel they are Americans, not the docile greenhorns of old.

The Progressive country central committee, which met Saturday to endorse a candidate for appointment to the superior court's second department stood equally divided between W. H. Thomas and Steele S. Finley for the post, while S. M. Davis did not qualify in the balloting for endorsement.

Rev. J. A. Stevenson, who was offered the post of superintendent of church extension by the Presbyterian assembly of Southern California, turned down the offer, as it would compel him to leave Santa Ana, where he preaches in the First Presbyterian church.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—It is not supposed to be known, but one of the reasons for the sudden departure of Ambassador Mario di Pimentel Brandao for Brazil is to work up plans for settling American emigrants in Brazil.

The ambassador discussed this with President Roosevelt and several New York bankers before he departed. While there is nothing imminent, he hopes to lay plans for emigration which will make a big dent in the number of U. S. unemployed, at the same time spur the development of Brazil.

It is no secret why congress yanked the air bureau away from Secretary Dan Roper and set it up as an independent agency. It was because of pure mismanagement. But it is secret that "Uncle Dan" has reaped a lot of patronage out of the transfer.

The act creating the new civil aeronautics authority empowers the president to transfer all employees of the air bureau to the new agency. So as soon as Roper and his right-hand man, Colonel J. Monroe (Rowboat) Johnson, saw that the act was going to become law they began padding the bureau's payroll.

As a result of this foresight its staff has jumped from less than 2200 to over 2800—an increase of more than 25 per cent since Jan. 1. In other words, the new aeronautics authority may no longer be under Roper but it will still be staffed by his friends.

Note—Likely commissioner on the new air board is Grant Mason, Pan American Airways representative in Havana, and husband of Jane Kendall, once Washington's most beautiful debutante. Another likely commissioner is Commander "Tommy" Thomas, former navy flier and aide to Assistant Naval Secretary Edison. Tommy is the son-in-law of the late George T. Mayne, ambassador to Russia at the outbreak of the world war.

TVA Counsel
Some funny lies behind the scenes preceded the TVA project's selection of Francis Biddle as its general counsel.

After the congressional committee had spent weeks discussing the qualifications of more than a score of lawyers, Senator Fred Brown, democrat of New Hampshire, finally brought forward the name of Biddle, blue-stocking Philadelphian and head of the old labor board.

Opposition was expected from the republicans, but Republican senator "Puddler Jim" Davis, also a Pennsylvanian, greeted the suggestion with great enthusiasm. "Excellent man, excellent man," he exclaimed, "just the man we want. We couldn't find a better one. He is a brilliant lawyer and as courageous and honest as he is able."

When brushing Brown aside, Davis took complete command of the Biddle candidacy. He offered to bring him before the committee for a personal interview and when that was approved rushed out to telephone Biddle to come to Washington the next day.

Upon his arrival, Biddle went directly to Davis' office. In the ensuing cross-examination, Biddle's record was gone over with a fine-toothed comb. Representative Thomas Jenkins, republican of Ohio, favored the appointment of Samuel Seabury, nemesis of ex-Mayor Jimmy Walker, and was particularly inquisitive about Biddle's background and views.

First he wanted to know if Biddle was pro-labor. A few minutes later he asked if it was true that Biddle was a corporation lawyer and had represented Mellon and other big business interests.

"Well, it is very obvious," Mr. Congressman, quietly replied Biddle, "that I can't be both a radical and a conservative at the same time."

"What is your politics?" Jenkins asked.

"I am a democrat. And in that connection I want it distinctly understood that if I am honored with this appointment, I will counterbalance no politics in my work and there will be no whitewash."

Born Abroad
"Were you born out of the country?" pursued Jenkins.

"I was. I was born in France. I also might add that the first Biddle who came to this country, before William Penn, also was born abroad."

After Biddle was excused, Republican Jenkins suggested that no action be taken on the general counselship that day. Democrat Brown objected to this, contending that more than enough time had been consumed on the matter. Senator Vic Donahey, democratic chairman of the committee, sided with Brown, who then moved that Biddle be appointed.

Jenkins thereupon placed Seabury's name in nomination. But there was no second and Biddle remained the only candidate. The ballot was unanimous—except for Jenkins, who voted "no," and Davis, who to the startled amazement of his colleagues voted "present."

Why the beefy little Pennsylvanian reversed himself so abruptly he did not reveal. His only comment was to remark to Brown and other democratic members of the committee, "You fellows missed your calling. You should have been actors instead of senators."

Note—Since then Davis has told friends that he did not vote for Biddle because he did not want to appear to be favoring a man from his home state. He did not explain why, before Biddle's name was proposed, he had recommended another Philadelphia lawyer.

SULFANILAMIDE
ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Science Service.—Sulfanilamide, the chemical remedy which has helped thousands of human patients recover from infections ranging from blood poisoning to gonorrhea, promises to help laboratory animals when they get sick.

News that the "sniffles," a form of pneumonia responsible for a high mortality in all laboratory rat colonies, can be successfully treated with the new chemical remedy comes from Dr. Norman R. F. Maier of the University of Michigan here.

In a report to the current issue of Science, Dr. Maier reports that out of 14 rats with "sniffles" who were given sulfanilamide daily, 12 recovered permanently and two died. In a group of seven untreated animals all died after varying lengths of time.

No harmful effects from the drug were noted although some animals received it daily for nearly two months.

—People who have "queer ideas" show it in their brain wave patterns as well as in other more obvious ways. This and many other facts that scientists are discovering about the characteristic patterns made on paper by electrical hook-up with a person's brain are being discussed at the opening meeting here this morning of the American Psychiatric association.

The queer or abnormal brain wave patterns found in persons who have "queer ideas," and in others who have phobias, or who show signs of paranoia or other mental disturbances, were described by Drs. Frederic A. Gibbs and William G. Lennox and Mrs. Erna L. Gibbs of Boston.

The brain wave patterns consist of rhythmic wavy or spiked lines traced on paper. They constitute a record of the electrical impulses that accompany brain cell activity. These patterns are so characteristic of a person that the Boston scientists as a person's handwriting. On this point they stated:

"That we are dealing with a fundamental constitutional mechanism which reflects the essential working of the individual brain is suggested by the following facts. Each individual has his own pattern of electrical activity, which, like his handwriting, can be distinguished from that of other individuals and which under standard conditions maintain its individuality from day to day. Furthermore, normal persons who are related have records which bear a resemblance to one another, and the records of normal identical twins are closely similar."

Brain wave patterns, it is hoped, help solve some problems of mental disease, just as similar patterns of electrical impulses from the heart, called electrocardiograms, are helping doctors learn more about heart disease. At the meeting this morning Dr. and Mrs. Gibbs and Dr. Lennox reported that brain wave patterns in the widespread mental ailment, schizophrenia, are similar to those in patients with epilepsy. This is considered significant in view of the current theory that epilepsy and schizophrenia are antagonistic conditions.

ROOM FOR ONE MORE
A bishop was being patronized by a millionaire.

"I never go to church, bishop," the millionaire said. "Perhaps you've noticed that."

"Yes, I have noticed it," said the bishop, gravely.

"Well, the reason I don't go to church is that there are so many hypocrites there."

"Oh, don't let that keep you away," said the bishop, smiling. "There's always room for one more who knows!" —Kentish Mercury.

TURN ABOUT IS FAIR PLAY
A woman from Florida approached President Wilson one day; and after the greeting the president asked, "What can I do for you?"

"Oh, nothing at all," replied the woman. "I came from Florida just to see what a live president looks like; I never saw one before."

"That's very kind of you," replied President Wilson, laughing heartily. "There's no reason why you shouldn't, since many of us in the north here go all the way to Florida just to see a live alligator."

REBECCA'S BIG MOMENT
In one of her famous "Rebecca" stories, Kate Douglas Wiggin had written this sentence: "Rebecca sat by the window, chopping hash."

The proofreader put an interrogation mark after it, and added in pencil: "As hash is the finished product, was she not, instead, chopping meat and potatoes?"

When the author rallied from the effect of the comment she wrote her answer under the question: "There is a psychological moment when the meat and the potatoes blend into hash. It was this moment I had in mind."

I hear a lot of men complain about their wives' back-seat drivers, but I want to tell you there's many a man that wouldn't "amount to a continental" if he didn't have one of those wives to tell him which way to turn.

I knew a man who worked for the same firm for fifteen years and never got a raise in salary and he never asked for one, but finally he got married. His wife wasn't a back-seat driver—she sat right up in front where she could grab the wheel.

She kept tellin' him what to tell the boss until finally one night he came home and he says, "Well, I finally told the boss what you told me." She says, "Well, that's swell—I'm proud of you." He says, "Well, thank you, my dear—now hand me the 'want ad' section."
